

Extra! Extra! The Press Club of Metropolitan St. Louis has named KETC-TV and KWMU-FM, the two nationally-affiliated public broadcasting stations in our area, the 2005 Media Honorees of the Year. The stations will be recognized at a fund-raiser in September. Proceeds from the evening will fund the Press Club's journalism/communication scholarships and internships.

You never know who you'll run into at the Clayton Center...LN sales rep Erich Keister was just minding his own business, shooting a few hoops on a recent Saturday morning when he walked the Backstreet Boys! The Boys, who were in town for a concert and staying at the Ritz-Carlton, invited Keister to join their game. The group hit it off and spent the morning slam-dunking and joking around. Group members Brian Littrell, Nick Carter and Kevin Richardson were so taken with Keister (it's that LN charm) that they offered him tickets to the show!

Debbie Kaminer knows what a girl wants... The mother, wife (of PR whiz Craig Kaminer), educator and part time fitness instructor has found time for a new venture—this one dripping in diamonds! Her new business, What a Girl Wants, is what Kaminer describes as "mid-afternoon tea or afternoon cocktails meets fine jewelry shopping." When women (and men) began stopping her on the street and buying the necklaces and earrings she was wearing right on the spot, she knew she was on to something. She now hosts private appointments and small jewelry parties in her historic CWE home to show off to the more than 400 pieces she's acquired through her connections in NYC's diamond district.

LN LADUE NEWS

Ladue native and board game inventor Stuart Montaldo is again in the national spotlight. His newest game, Cogno: Deep

Diamond diva Debbie Kaminer